

Verse 49

*Yathā'pi bhamaro puppham
vanna gandham aethayam
Paleti rasam ādāya
evam gāme munī care*

As a bee without harming the flower, its colour or scent, flies away after collecting only the honey, even so should the sage wander in the village (collecting almsfood).

	Meaning
yathā	just as
bhamaro	a bee
puppham	flower
vanna	colour
gandham	scent
aethayam	[From hetheti] not injuring, not harming
paleti	[From palāyati] to go away
rasam	[Lit.] taste
ādāya	having taken
evam	even so
gāme	[Loc.] in the village
munī	sage
care	[Lit. walk] wander about